👍 About Me

With several apps published on the App Store, I am a programmer and designer offering extensive experience within user-friendly solutions and teamwork oriented environments.

Also, as a production manager, my previous job, I developed excellent communication, organization and project skills, even when a tight deadline was set.

In terms of technical know-how, I am very much familiar and well versed with the latest gaming trends (also included in my repertoire is a familiarity to a wide range of systems I personally own) and software, giving me the first-hand knowledge in areas related to video games and UI/UX.
